Run 2130 – Annual Combined ANZAC Run @ Ascot

Preamble:

I am not sure if some of the more seasoned Perth and Hamersley members were misinformed about the run being an evening run and not a dawn service where parking would be at a premium, so decided to camp out overnight to ensure a good vantage point. Men and dogs started arriving shortly after the Hares returned from setting the run.

Old bonds were renewed and some people even exchange pleasantries. Hamersley turned up with their bus and enquired of the Dark One, why a space had not been reserved for the busses and trailers? Without waiting for a response and using their imitative (something Hamersley are not known for) they managed to get an area of the carpark cleared to allow said busses and trailers to be appropriately positioned.

It may have been due to the afore said confusion about park arrangements and drinks not being available until late, but no one whinged about the run start time, so at 6:30pm (plus a bit), Bloo stood on Hamersley's pedestal and called a circle. Shortly thereafter quiet was called for and the Ode of Remembrance was recited. The next item on the agenda was to ask runners and walkers to look whilst out for Tampax's keys, otherwise some unlucky prick would have to take him home. Fitzall in his capacity as the main hare, advised the circle that the run started on paper, before switching to chalk and then finishing on paper. The runners and walkers start out on the same trail, before splitting up. In a move designed to confuse most Hashmen, the runners trail was shown with a "R" and the walkers with a "W". So, the pack was set off.

The Run

The initial part of the run was along the dirt paths surrounding Garvey Park before heading into Ascot along the roads behind, but parallel to Great Eastern Highway. In order to ensure the proper OH&S procedures were being followed, the Hares laid the trail, so that very one could cross safely across the busy road, without Mummy holding their hands or the need for the school crossing attendant, by only letting them cross at intersections controlled by traffic lights. The walkers were sent straight home at the first set of lights and the runners were sent across the highway and into the extremities of the Perth Airport along Fauntleroy Avenue and Dunreath Drive. The runners were also sent to inspect of the works being carried out on the new Airport Train Link, before going onto the now-blocked-off Brearley Drive, then heading along the streets of Redcliffe, crossing Great Eastern Highway again before returning home.

The Run Down:

Despite the rumblings amongst some about the distance of the run, our very own GM exerted his authority as Host GM and was pleased with the hares' efforts and awarded the run 7.0

Prick Of The Week:

Charges

Due to the absence of our own RA, Sir Kumsize volunteered to run the circle.

Boner was made to sit on ice "probably" for talking in the circle.

Sherlock Perth's Hash Flash upset proceedings when he was charged having a bigger one than the Woolies (I'm taking about photographic appendage around his neck). When he was instructed to sit on ice for this crime he stood in the circle, raised his middle finger as a sign of his respect of the authority therein, and told them all to "Get fucked". This prompted much jeering amongst the pack, whereby one of RUMPOLE's Hamersley mates offered to sit on the ice on Sherlock's behalf.

Tampax was given a down-down for losing his car keys while setting the run, which were never found and resulted in the RAC towing him, and his car, home.

Budgie was called up for his antisocial parking of the bucket, and his Perth mates offered to transfer him to Hamersley, but this generous offer was refused.
