Run 2138 – Elvis Doubles Up @ Mullaloo

Preamble:

The Hare must have been under the incorrect assumption, that as the Onsec is the person that manages the dates and Hares via the Hareline, it also means the Onsec will also organise an assistant to help the lame in the setting of a run. I received a text message mid-afternoon from Elvis, some four hours prior to the run start, "Hope you didn't get anyone to help me with the run, I managed to do a long and short run." Needless to say, his erroneous supposition was corrected by a forthright response.

The turnout for tonight's run was our standard tally of 9 Bullsbrook Hashmen and a dog, which outnumbered West Coast by one not including the dog.

Prior to the start of the run Elvis attempted to warm up the interior of all those present, with a tot of rum. I did not partake, but there were interesting comments made by those that imbibed. At 6:15 Bloo requested the Hare instruct the runners on the layout of the run. "You are on chalk on the RHS of the road or on the footpath. There will be a drink stop". I am fully aware that there are no rules in Hash, just traditions and one of those traditions is that a Bullsbrook run starts at 6:30. I am also aware that the GM's words rule, so at 6:25 our Dear Leader request the instructions for the walkers. "Same as the runners, chalk on the RHS of the road or on the footpath, except that you go out and take the first right, to join up with the runners."

The Run

Distance 2.34km Duration 41:38

The Run Down:

Upon the return of the pack Blank complained about it rain while he was out running. When told the he was the only one that seemed to get wet he advised the GM "You can check with my friends from West Coast". Bloo questioned each member of West Coast present and could not find anyone willing to admit they were a friend of Blank.

As is traditional at Bully Hash (we do follow some traditions, but not all), the GM went about eliciting remarks on the run from various persons present.

He first asked for a representative from West Coast to proffer an opinion on the run component of trail. It seems that these gentlemen do not understand what this entailed, and several opinions were given at the one time. The consensus was that considering Elvis was the hare, it was well marked, he managed to activate more than three brain cells., combined with the fact that he had set a longer trail for the runners, it was considered to be OK.

Pyro was asked to proffer an opinion on the walk component of trail. "The start was a debacle and it was luck the Hare parked on the corner to shepherd the walks onto the correct trail and the distinct lack of arrows until the drink stop. After that it was OK"

The GM came to a quick decision and decided that as the walker and runners returned to the bucket at the same time, it was worth of a score of 7.

Prick Of The Week:

The GM had two targets this week for this year's inaugural handing out of the award. The first was Blank for running past the GM and not greeting him. The GM advised the he has feelings and Blank ignoring him was upsetting. The second target was Basil Brush, for creating confusion as to the attendance of West Coast at last week's run.

The worth recipient was Basil Brush.

Charges:

Bullsbrook

RA – Tampax

Expecting West Coast to turn up at last week's run

RA – Orig & Elvis

The RA was unable to get a drink because they were shifting the trailer

West Coast

RA – Biscuits

World Cup Football some problem with Germany, Blank (aka John Scot) declared he had Germany ancestry, so was given the drink

RA – Dick Doctor
