Run 2156 – Boydwunder @ Soccer Training in Morley

Preamble:

Another Monday night another location, another hare, but the usually crowd of Hashmen. Parking for this evening's gala event was at a premium as it seems that the local junior soccer club defies the norm and trains on a Monday night. Elvis did not help the situation by requiring six spaces for the trailer, plus an additional space to allow him to manoeuvre his girth between the trailer and any other vehicle. Not to be deterred one soccer family decided there was enough room behind the trailer to park their Toorak taxi, so that they could drop off young Ethan. As neither party had a proficient fluency of the English language, Elvis used sign language to ward off the intruder.

Following tradition at 6:30 the GM began the proceedings by calling upon the hare to give some instructions on the run. Nothing spectacular, just chalk on the path or kerb and directions of the on. Blank was disappointed (once again) when after asking about a drink stop, received a negative response.

The Run

Around the streets we went onto a check, on to a false trail around the streets into more false trails and some more checks. As the night got darker and the pack circled around towards the trailer Blank could still be heard muttering about drink stops and him being the greatest Hashman in the history of Bullsbrook. Despite this minor setback, everyone managed to make it back to the bucket safely.

Distance 3.28km Duration 43:20

The Run Down:

Upon our return to the bucket, it was deemed that as we had pissed off the local soccer club enough by taking up their parking, we should not subject them to further harassment and to protect the delicate ears of Oliver, William, Jack, Noah or Thomas etc, the trailer should be moved to the opposite end of the reserve.

His Excellency the GM requested a precise of the run first from Woolies, who was most pleased with the run because had completed the whole run and he was still alive at the end of it, there judged the run worth of an 8.0. Rooted was similarly pleased with the run, as there were no hills and the pack stayed together. Rooted also deemed the run worthy of a score of 8.0. Dikvan thought the run was perfect, despite having Blank as a walking companion for part of the run and similarly decided the run was worthy of an 8.0.

The GM concurred with the previous remarks and was pleased with the run which despite a small hic-up with the rain prior to the run, washing out a false trail was well set and awarded the run his usual 7.0

Prick Of The Week:

Blank came close to receiving the Phalanx this week, but the GM decided it was too complicated for Blank to understand, so he abstained.

Charges:

GM – Blank Not thinking of fellow Hashmen. After the last false trail, Blank informed the GM that there were no more runners behind him, despite the GM not agreeing with him. Elvis reappeared behind the pack after the pack reached the next corner.
Gulity – DD Blank

Alias – Everyone else Perving on the Kids at Soccer

Reversed – DD Alais

Rooted – Dickvan Pissing behind the tree with each other (possibly pissing in each other's pocket)

Guilty – DD Dickvan

Elvis – Rooted Wet check. The RA (and everyone) else could not understand what Elvis was talking about

Reversed DD – Elvis

Alias – Elvis Stripping down to his jocks in the carpark in front of all the soccer kids

Guilty DD - Elvis

General business:

Diesel requested that we procure some new Bullsbrook Hash caps

The GM appointed Elvis as the acting GM in his absence at the Awesome Foursome Run next week

Tampax was sad to report that Duke would no longer be at any further runs, as he had died by hanging himself on the fence whilst attempting to escape.
